

How to become a...

TRAUMA INFORMED TEAM

1

Try a training

We have courses from 30 minutes to 3 days so you can invest the time that's right for you. A great place to start is the 1-hour Overview of Trauma-Informed Care, which gives you a high-level perspective on trauma-informed care and several applicable principles.

Email hello@traumafreeworld.org for a free trial.

2

Equip your team

Have your staff take the Introduction to Trauma-Informed Care to get everyone on board with how to work more effectively with children who have experienced trauma. You can add on live Q&A with one of our trainers or we can custom design specific modules for your organization.

Email robhall@traumafreeworld.org for custom training plans.

3

Extend the learnings

Many organizations rely on volunteers to achieve their mission. To ensure your entire extended team is practicing trauma-informed care, ask your volunteers to take the Trauma-Informed Volunteers course. This 30-minute, on-demand class helps everyone who interacts with kids become safe adults kids can trust.
